Update 3 - 07/30/2015-17:05 / DEM-Porter

This is another update. It's just one long line of text, used here to demonstrate how not using the HTML preserve tag affects the display of text. After the long line of text, we can also demonstrate how white space is not preserved. However, not all browsers email clients render preserved text the same way.

Update 2 - 07/30/2015-16:33 / DEM-Porter

This is an update. It's the first of a number of updates created to test the display of updates on the reports and notifications. We think that when there are multiple updates they are tacked on to one another without line breaks, leading to long and difficult-to-read blocks of text. This is especially true when viewing the text on a small screen....
